COURSE DESCRIPTION

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

This course, open to all undergraduates, is intended to provide students who have a general interest in educational studies an opportunity to critically examine a variety of educational issues from the perspective of analytic philosophy. A central concern of the course is to elucidate the nature of education as distinct from related concepts such as training and socialisation, and to argue that education is a uniquely human phenomenon. Other concepts considered include mind, knowledge and emotion. As its title indicates, the course is equally concerned with introducing the business of philosophical analysis to students. There are no prerequisites for the course.

ASSIGNMENTS:

3 in-class tests.

REQUIRED TEXT:

Robin Barrow and Ronald Woods (2006) An Introduction to Philosophy of Education, Fourth Edition, Routledge
