SIMON FRASER UNIVERSITY

MEMORANDUM

	То	Mr. H. Evans, Secretary	From	D. H. Sullivan, Dean
		Senate		Faculty of Arts
•	Subject	New Undergraduate Courses Faculty of Arts	Date	November 14, 1969

The Faculty of Arts Curriculum Committee has approved the following new courses:

Archaeology 101-3 Archaeology 436-3	French 152-4 French 230-3
	French 411-4
Economics 101-3	French 412-4
Comm. 371-3	French 430-3
Econ. 390-3	French 431-3
	French 448-4
English 202-4	Russian 449-3
English 203-4	GERM. Second. 120-4
English 212-3	Spanùsh 110-3
English 467-2	Spanish 111-3
English 419-3
English 469-2	Phil. 209-3
English 420-3	Phil 208-3
English 470-2	Phil 438-3
History 403-5	Phil 488-2
MISCOLA 402-2	Phil 439-3
	Phil 489-2

The Faculty is approving these courses by referendum ballot now in progress.

The new course proposals are attached. It would be appreciated if these could be included in the Senate agenda December 1, 1969. Thank you very much.

DHS:els encl.

The Senate Agenda Committee noted that substantial documentation had been submitted for these proposed course changes and note that the courses had been approved by the Faculty of Arts Curriculum Committee, and therefore recommend that these proposed changes come before Senate at its December meeting. The Committee also recommends that if any course is not approved by the referendum being conducted by the Faculty of Arts that that course be deleted. Results of the referendum will be known prior to the December Senate meeting.

MEW COURSE FROPOSAL

CALENDAR INFORMATION

ï

Department: Archaeology. Sub-title or Description: Method and myth in the study of human prehistory. The relationship between ideas and archaeological data in regard to man's prehistoric past.

Credit Hours: 3 Vector Description: 2-1-0 Pre-requisite(s): None

II ENROLMENT AND SCHEDULING

Estimated Envoluent: 225 - 300 Semester Offered (e.g. Yearly, every Spring; twice yearly, once or twice per year Fall and Spring):

When course will first be offered: September 1970

111 JUSTIFICATION

A. Effect is the detailed description of the contra including differentiation from lower level courses, from similar courses in the same department and from courses in other departments in the University? This course will critically examine both popular and scientific ideas regarding man's past with particular reference to scientific method and to up-to-date archaeological fact. Unlike our other lower division courses there will be no specific regional emphasis.

B. What is the range of topics that may be dealt with in the course? The development of ideas regarding rnn's past in the context of the development of the field of prohistoric archaeology; the dawn of man's awaremess of his prehistoric past; the methods employed and the kinds of reasoning used in the interpretation of archaeological data; invention and diffusion; examination of ethically derived theories vis a vis archaeological fact; examination of popular ideas - Heyerdahl, Churchward's sunken continents, etc. C. Now deas this everys fut the yeals of the depoputent?

This course will serve as a general introduction to the discipline for both majors and non-majors.

D. How does this course affect dyree requirements?

Does not affect them.

E. What are the calendar changes necessary to reflect the addition of this course?

See revised calendar proposal.

F. What course, if any, is being dropped from the calendar if this course is approved?

None

G. What is the nature of student demand for this course?

Our present lower division courses are regionally rather than disciplinary oriented and as such preclude the coverage of annumber of items of general interest. There is considerable general interest in Archaeology which could be better satisfied by this course.

H. Other reasons for introducing the course.

IV BUDGETARY AND SPACE FACTORS

A. Which faculty will be available to teach this course?
 All faculty in Archaeology are qualified to teach this course.
 Additional faculty will be required to give it.

- B. What are the special space and/or equipment requirements for this course? None
- C. Any other budgetary implications of mounting this counse:

Additional Teaching Assistants will be required (Deleted Am 8/12/49).

Approva1:

Curriculum Committee:

Dean of Faculty:

FAGULTE OF ARTS

September, 1969

NEW COURSE PROPOSAL

CALENDAR INFORMATION

T

Department: Archaeology Course Number: 436 Title: Sub-title or Description: Readings in Archaeology

Readings on particular topics will be arranged under the direction of a faculty member.

Credit Hours: 3 Vector Description: Pre-requisite(s): 272 or 273

II ENROLMENT AND SCHEDULING

Estimated Enrolment: small

Semester Offered (e.g. Yearly, every Spring; tuice yearly, As required. Fall and Spring):

When course will first be offered: Summer, 1970

III JUSTIFICATION

A. What is the detailed description of the course including differentiation from lower level courses, from similar courses in the same department and from courses in other departments in the University?

Intensive reading on particular topics. No reading courses are presently offered other than for honors students.

B. What is the range of topics that may be dealt with in the course? Variable. This course serves two purposes:
(1) It will be offered during summer semester for students attending the Archaeological Field School.

(2) It will be offered for individual qualified students who want a particular course on a particular topic that we do not offer.

How does this course for the goals of the department?

This course permits qualified students to pursue a particular topic not specifically covered in one of the other Archdeology courses.

D. How does this course affect dyres requirements? It is not a requirement.

E. What are the calendar changes necessary to reflect the addition of this course?

See proposal on calendar revisions.

F. What course, if any, is being dropped from the calendar if this course is approved?

None

ŧ.

6. What is the nature of student demand for this course? The small number of faculty procludes teaching a wide range of formal courses on all archaeological topics. This course permits students with special interests to pursue them.

H. Other reasons for introducing the course.

Students enrolling in the summer field school can only register for 12 hours at present, and this islaconsidered to be only a partial course load. Acceptance of this course will remedy this situation.

IV BUDGETARY AND SPACE FACTORS

A. Which faculty will be available to teach this course? All faculty. No new faculty required.

B. What are the special space and/or equipment requirements for this course? None

C. Any other budgetary implications of mounting this course:

None

Approvel:

Curriculum Committee:

Bean of Faculty:

FACULTY OF ARTS October, 1969

NEW COURSE PROPOSAL

1. CALENDAR INFORMATION

Department: Economics and Commerce

Course No. 101 Title: The Canadian Economy

Sub-title or Description:

An introduction to the development of the Canadian economy and the analysis of Canadian economic problems.

Credit Hours: 3

Vector Description: 2 -1 -0

Pre-requisite(s): None

II. ENROLMENT AND SCHEDULING

Estimated Enrolment: 200

Semester Offered: Twice yearly, fall and spring

When course will first be offered: Fall, 1970

III. JUSTIFICATION

A. What is the detailed description of the course including differentiation from lower level courses, from similar courses in the same department and from courses in other departments in the University?

The course will be complementary to Econ 100-3. As presently offered, that course focusses on such general, supra-national economic problems as automation, economic development, inflation, poverty, and international monetary relations. Econ 101-3 will cover some of these same problems in their Canadian context. The proposed course does not duplicate any courses offered in other departments and should, in fact, be a useful complement to many outside courses.

- B. What is the range of topics that may be dealt with in the course?
 - Canadian regional development
 - the Canadian experience with inflation
 - the industrial development of Canada
 - Canadian agricultural policy
 - labour relations in Canada

- Canadian manpower and immigration policy
- Urban problems in Canada

- foreign investment in Canadian industry
- the Canadian balance of payments
- C. How does this course fit the goals of the department?
 - 1. Provides additional opportunity for students majoring outside the Department to take work in economics.
 - 2. Provides an emphasis on Canadian economic topics that is presently not available in other courses.
- D. How does this course affect degree requirements?

No effect

E. What are the calendar changes necessary to reflect the addition of this course?

Addition of the course to the Department's list of courses.

F. What course, if any, is being dropped from the calendar if this course is approved?

None

G. What is the nature of student demand for this course?

There has been some student demand for more "Canadian-oriented" work in the department. This course and the proposed Econ 390-3 are designed to meet this demand.

H. Other reasons for introducing the course.

To provide a course suitable for inclusion in the proposed Canadian studies program.

IV. BUDGETARY AND SPACE FACTORS

A. Which faculty will be available to teach this course?

Any economist presently in the Department would be able to teach this course.

B. What are the special space and/or equipment requirements for this course?

None

C. Any other budgetary implications of mounting this course:

Will require the services of one-half faculty member each time it is offered. This could be met by reassignment of present faculty.

Approval:

S. 1. 7

Curriculum Committee:

Dean of Faculty:

Senate:

JM/an/10/3/69

NEW COURSE PROPOSAL

CALENDAR INFORMATION

Τ.

Department: Department of Economics & Commerce

Course No. Comm. 371

1 10

Title: Organization Theory

Description: The study of organization and theories using multi-disciplinary perspectives and research. Comparative analyses of organizational change and its impact on the behavior, processes and administration of organization.

Credit Hours: 3 Vector Description: 2-1-0

Pre-requisite(s):

II. ENROLMENT AND SCHEDULING

Estimated Enrolment: 40

Semester Offered twice yearly, fall and spring.

When course will first be offered: Spring 1971.

III. JUSTIFICATION

A. What is the detailed description of the course including differentation from lower level courses, from similar courses in the same department and from courses in other departments in the University?

No similar courses outside the department. Com. 370 enphasizes current practice. Com. 371 will emphasize the evolution of the theory underlying the practice, discuss the current research, and illustrate major unresolved problems.

B. What is the range of topics that may be dealt with in the course?

Classical approaches to organization, the human relations school, the behavioural impact, analogies in various disciplines, change processes.

C. How does this course fit the goals of the department?

Provides for greater liberalization of the undergraduate program and introduces the student to research in management science.

D. How does this course affect degree requirements?

No effect.

E. What are the calendar changes necessary to reflect the addition of this course?

Insertion of course title and description.

F. What course, if any, is being dropped from the calendar if this course is approved?

None.

G. What is the nature of student demand for this course?

Strong demand for a course which integrates the multidisciplinary facets of organization theory.

H. Other reasons for introducing the course.

Progressive programs in business administration have taken a leading role in developing and studying the growing body of organization theory. This body of theory has become quite substantial and is drawn from the study of various types of organizations in addition to industrial companies. Our Department's present undergraduate program does not have a course which provides students with the theory and research. This void is a significant deficiency in our curriculum.

IV BUDGETARY AND SPACE FACTORS

A. Which faculty will be available to teach this course?

Professors Dickson, Wedley, Barnhill, Rogow.

B. What are the special space and/or equipment requirements for this course?

None.

C. Any other budgetary implications of mounting this course: None.

Approval:

Curriculum Committee:

Dean of Faculty:

Senate: /cp/27/9/69

NEW COURSE PROPOSAL

I. CALENDAR INFORMATION

, S

Department: Department of Economics & Commerce Course No. 390

Title: Canadian Economic Policy

Description: A description and analysis of all types of Canadian Economic problems without devoting too much attention to any one specialized area. Both macro- and micro-economic problems will be discussed. Topics will include inflation, employment, stability, growth, regional problems, agricultural policies, national identity problems, international policy, natural resource policies with particular emphasis on current problems.

Credit Hours: 3

Vector Description: 1 -2 -0

Pre-requisite(s): Ec 301-5, Ec 305-5

II. ENROLMENT AND SCHEDULING

Estimated Enrolment: 30

Semester Offered (e.g. Yearly, every Spring; twice yearly, Fall and Spring): Twice yearly.

When course will first be offered: Fall, 1970

III. JUSTIFICATION

A. What is the detailed description of the course including differentation from lower level courses, from similar courses in the same department and from courses in other departments in the University?

No similar courses inside or outside the department. Much more advanced than lower level proposed new course (101-3, The Canadian Economy), in that in that it will be much more intensive and theoretical. Concerned with an analysis of all types of Canadian economic problems without devoting too much attention to any one specialized area.

B. What is the range of topics that may be dealt with in the course?

Inflation, employment, stability, growth, regional problems, agricultural policies, national identity, international policies, natural resource problems.

C. How does this course fit the goals of the department?

The department at present lacks a course on general policy problems, and in particular lacks a course directed specifically at Canadian economic problems, at an advanced theoretical level.

D. How does this course affect degree requirements?

N/A

E. What are the calendar changes necessary to reflect the addition of this course?

N/A

F. What course, if any, is being dropped from the calendar if this course is approved?

A/N

G. What is the nature of student demand for this course?

There has been some demand for more "Canadian-oriented" courses.

H. Other reasons for introducing the course.

Fits in well with the University's desire for analysis of Canadian problems.

- 2 -

IV. BUDGETARY AND SPACE FACTORS

A. Which faculty will be available to teach this course?

Most economists presently in the Department would be able to teach this course.

- B. What are the special space and/or equipment requirements for this course? $N/\!A$
- C. Any other budgetary implications of mounting this course:

This could be met by re-assignment of present faculty.

Approval: Curriculum Committee:

Dean of Faculty:

Senate:

PK/cp/22/9/69

NEW COURSE PROPOSAL

1. CALENDAR INFORMATION Department: English Sub-title or Description:
1. CALENDAR INFORMATION
202 Title: Studies in Prose

Prose and prose drama chosen from different periods

Credit Hours: 4 Vector Description: $2 - 1\frac{1}{2} - 0$ Pre-requisite(s):

Any two of 101,102,103

2. ENROLMENT AND SCHEDULING

Estimated Enrolment: 350 Semester Offered (e.g. yearly, every Spring; twice yearly, Fall and Spring):

Every semester

When will course first be offered?

Summer, 1970

3. JUSTIFICATION

 A. What is the detailed description of the course including differentiation from lower level courses, from similar courses in the same department, and from courses in other departments in the University?

The course provides the student with instruction in the broad field of English prose, from the beginnings to the present day. There is no overlap.

B. What is the range of topics that may be dealt with in the course?

Any prose literature in English.

November, 1969

C. How does this course fit the goals of the department?

This course is designed to present a more intensive study of the full range of English prose than the former lower division offerings were capable of doing. English 202 and 203 are complementary courses intended to replace the current 201.

D. How does this course affect degree requirements?

The course will be required of Major and Honours students before they enter upper division courses.

- E. What are the calendar changes necessary to reflect the addition of this course? See accompanying calendar entry.
- F. What course, if any, is being dropped from the calendar if this course is approved?

English 201

G. What is the nature of student demand for this course?

The department is aware of student requests for more intensive work in literature at the lower level.

H. Other reasons for introducing the course.

None.

4. BUDGETARY AND SPACE FACTORS

A. Which faculty will be available to teach this course?

A large number of faculty is available to teach this course in any given semester.

B. What are the special space and/or equipment requirements for this course?

None.

C. Any other budgetary implications of mounting this course:

The mounting of this course will involve no additional cost.

Approval:

Curriculum Committee: Dean of Faculty:

NEW COURSE PROPOSAL

1. CALENDAR INFORMATION

Department: English Course Number: 203 Title: Studies in Poetry Sub-title or Description:

November, 1969

Poetry and poetic drama chosen from different periods.

Credit Hours: 4 Vector Description: $2 - \frac{1}{2} - 0$ Pré-requisite(s):

Any two of 101, 102, 103

2. ENROLMENT AND SCHEDULING

Estimated Enrolment: 350

Semester Offered (e.g. yearly, every Spring; twice yearly, Fall and Spring):

Every semester.

When will course first be offered?

Summer, 1970.

3. JUSTIFICATION

A. What is the detailed description of the course including differentiation from lower level courses, from similar courses in the same department, and from courses in other departments in the University?

The course provides the student with instruction in the broad field of English poetry, from the beginnings to the present day. There is no overlap.

B. What is the range of topics that may be dealt with in the course?

Any poetic literature in English.

C. How does this course fit the goals of the department?

This course is designed to present a more intensive study of the full range of English poetry than the former lower division offerings were capable of doing. English 202 and 203 are complementary courses intended to replace the current 201.

D. How does this course affect degree requirements?

The course will be required of Major and Honours students before they enter upper division courses.

E. What are the calendar changes necessary to reflect the addition of this course?

See accompanying calendar entry.

F. What course, if any, is being dropped from the calendar if this course is approved?

English 201

None.

G. What is the nature of student demand for this course?

The department is aware of student requests for more intensive work in literature at the lower level.

H. Other reasons for introducing the course.

4. BUDGETARY AND SPACE FACTORS

A. Which faculty will be available to teach this course?

A large number of faculty is available to teach this course in any given semester.

B. What are the special space and/or equipment requirements for this course?

None:

C. Any other budgetary implications of mounting this course:

The mounting of this course will involve no additional costs.

Approval:

Curriculum Committee:

Dean of Faculty:

NEW COURSE PROPOSAL

November, 1969

1. CALENDAR INFORMATION

Department: English Course Number: 212 Title: The Study of Sub-title or Description: the English Languag

Approaches to the study of the structure and function of language.

Credit Hours: 3 Vector Description: 2-1-0 Pre-requisite(s): None.

2. ENROLMENT AND SCHEDULING

Estimated Enrolment: 75

Semester Offered (e.g. yearly, every Spring; twice yearly, Fall and Spring):

When will course first be offered?

Summer, 1970.

3. JUSTIFICATION

A. What is the detailed description of the course including differentiation from lower level courses, from similar courses in the same department, and from courses in other departments in the University?

This course is a development of the current English ill. It provides an opportunity for the student to study, in the context of English literature, the various methods of language analysis both historical and contemporary, and their application. There is no overlap.

B. What is the range of topics that may be dealt with in the course?

All aspects of language description (linguistic, grammatical, etymological, lexicographical, etc.). The significance of analytical techniques in the study of English literature.

C. How does this course fit the goals of the department?

The department feels that this course will be more effectively taught in an elective rather than a required context. The major benefit will be the provision of intensified study for the benefit of those students for whom advanced work in English is a major concern.

D. How does this course affect degree requirements?

The course is an elective.

E. What are the calendar changes necessary to reflect the addition of this course?

See accompanying calendar entry.

F. What course, if any, is being dropped from the calendar if this course is approved?

English 111

G. What is the nature of student demand for this course?

Students interested in this aspect of the discipline have requested a more concentrated course.

H. Other reasons for introducing the course.

None.

4. BUDGETARY AND SPACE FACTORS

None.

A. Which faculty will be available to teach this course?

Faculty who have taught English 111 are equipped to teach 212.

B. What are the special space and/or equipment requirements for this course?

C. Any other budgetary implications of mounting this course: Mounting this course will involve no additional cost.

Approval:

Curriculum Committee:

Dean of Faculty:

NEW COURSE PROPOSAL

1. CALENDAR INFORMATION

Department: English Course Number: 467 Title:Directed Readings B Sub-title or Description:

November, 1969

Credit Hours: 2 Vector Description: None Pre-requisite(s): None

2. ENROLMENT AND SCHEDULING

Estimated Enrolment: Individual tuition

Semester Offered (e.g. yearly, every Spring; twice yearly, Fall and Spring):

Every semester When will course first be offered?

Summer, 1970.

3. JUSTIFICATION

A. What is the detailed description of the course including differentiation from lower level courses, from similar courses in the same department, and from courses in other departments in the University?

The course is designed to allow the student to undertake a two-credit individual reading course. There is no overlap.

B. What is the range of topics that may be dealt with in the course?

Any topic related to English literature.

C. How does this course fit the goals of the department?

The course enables the department to offer directed readings courses of different credit value.

D. How does this course affect degree requirements?

The course is an elective.

E. What are the calendar changes necessary to reflect the addition of this course?

See accompanying calendar entry.

F. What course, if any, is being dropped from the calendar if this course is approved?

None.

G. What is the nature of student demand for this course?

The department is aware of student requests for a two-credit directed readings course to be taken either in conjunction with the three- credit course to fill out a standard programme of hours or separately to cover a somewhat more limit topic than would be required for a three-credit course. A student may take 417 and 467 simultaneously but on different topics.

H. Other reasons for introducing the course.

None

4. BUDGETARY AND SPACE FACTORS

A. Which faculty will be available to teach this course?

3.

A large number of faculty is prepared to undertake such a course.

B. What are the special space and/or equipment requirements for this course?

None.

.

C. Any other budgetary implications of mounting this course:

Mounting this course would involve no additional cost.

Approval:

Curriculum Committee:

Dean of Faculty:

NEW COURSE PROPOSAL

1. CALENDAR INFORMATION

Department: English Course Number: 419 Title: Special Studies B Sub-title or Description: None.

Credit Hours: 3 Vector Description: 3-0-0 Pre-requisite(s):

None.

2. ENROLMENT AND SCHEDULING

Estimated Enrolment: Variable

Semester Offered (e.g. yearly, every Spring; twice yearly, Fall As required and Spring):

When will course first be offered?

Not before summer, 1970.

3. JUSTIFICATION

A. What is the detailed description of the course including differentiation from lower level courses, from similar courses in the same department, and from courses in other departments in the University?

The content of the course will vary each time it is offered. Its subject matter will be any aspect of literature in English not covered in the regularly scheduled courses.

B. What is the range of topics that may be dealt with in the course?

Any topic related to literature in English.

November, 1969

C. How does this course fit the goals of the department?

The course will utilize the specialized interests of the faculty, thereby enabling the student to benefit from those interests in the context of a fully organized course offering. Within the deartment's policy of providing a relatively small number of broadly defined courses, special studies courses make it possible to increase academic flexibility when the need arises. The department feels that special studies courses are particularly useful in obtaining the services of visiting specialists. D. How does this course affect degree requirements?

The course is an elective.

E. What are the calendar changes necessary to reflect the addition of this course?

See separate calendar entry.

None.

F. What course, if any, is being dropped from the calendar if this course is approved?

G. What is the nature of student demand for this course?

There are frequent student requests for special courses.

H. Other reasons for introducing the course.

The Department feels that the present scheme will make it possible to mount more than one Special Studies course in any one semester should the need arise. The proposed plan will allow the students to take differently numbered special courses, thereby enabling the transcript to show the student's achievement more clearly. A. Which faculty will be available to teach this course?

A substantial number of faculty with specialized interests not covered by regular course offerings, would be prepared to give such a course.

B. What are the special space and/or equipment requirements for this course?

None.

C. Any other budgetary implications of mounting this course:

Mounting this course would involve no additional cost.

Approval:

Curriculum Committee:

Dean of Faculty:

NEW COURSE PROPOSAL

1. CALENDAR INFORMATION

Department: English Course Number: 469 Title: Special Studies \hat{i} Sub-title or Description:

November, 1969

Seminar attached to 419 //

Credit Hours: 2 Vector Description: 0 - 2 - 0 Pre-requisite(s):

none.

2. ENROLMENT AND SCHEDULING

Estimated Enrolment: Variable

Semester Offered (e.g. yearly, every Spring; twice yearly, Fall and Spring):

As required.

When will course first be offered?

Not before summer, 1970.

3. JUSTIFICATION

A. What is the detailed description of the course including differentiation from lower level courses, from similar courses in the same department, and from courses in other departments in the University?

The content of the course will vary each time it is offered. It's subject matter will be any aspect of literature in English not covered in the regularly scheduled courses.

B. What is the range of topics that may be dealt with in the course?

Any topic related to literature in English

How does this course fit the goals of the department? с. The course will utilize the specialized interests of the faculty, thereby enabling the student to benefit from those interests in the context of a fully organized course offering. Within the department's policy of providing a relatively small number of broadly defined courses, Special Studies courses make it possible to increase academic flexibility when the need arises. The department fells that Special Studies courses are particularly useful in obtaining the services of visiting specialists. D.

How does this course affect degree requirements?

The course is an elective.

Ε. What are the calendar changes necessary to reflect the addition of this course?

See separate calendar entry.

F. What course, if any, is being dropped from the calendar if this course is approved?

None.

G. What is the nature of student demand for this course?

There are frequent student requests for special courses.

Other reasons for introducing the course. н.

The Department feels that the present scheme will make it possible to mount more than one special studies course in any one semester should the need arise. The proposed plan will allow the students to take differently numbered special courses, thereby enabling the transcript to show the student's achievement more clearly.

BUDGETARY AND SPACE FACTORS

4.

A. Which faculty will be available to teach this course?

A substantial number of faculty with specialized interests not covered by regular course offerings, would be prepared to give such a course.

B. What are the special space and/or equipment requirements for this course?

None.

C. Any other budgetary implications of mounting this course:

Mounting this course would involve no additional cost.

Approval:

Curriculum Committee:

Dean of Faculty:

Senate:

.

NEW COURSE PROPOSAL

1. CALENDAR INFORMATION

None

Department: English Course Number: 420 Title: Special Studies C Sub-title or Description:

November, 1969

3 - 0 - 0

Credit Hours: 3 Vector Description: Pre-requisite(s): None.

2. ENROLMENT AND SCHEDULING

Estimated Enrolment: Variable

Semester Offered (e.g. yearly, every Spring; twice yearly, Fall As required. and Spring):

When will course first be offered?

Not before summer, 1970.

3. JUSTIFICATION

A. What is the detailed description of the course including differentiation from lower level courses, from similar courses in the same department, and from courses in other departments in the University?

The content of the course will vary each time it is offered. Its subject matter will be any aspect of literature in English not covered in the regularly scheduled courses.

B. What is the range of topics that may be dealt with in the course?

Any topic related to literature in English.

C. How does this course fit the goals of the department?

The course will utilize the specialized interests of the faculty, thereby enabling the student to benefit from those interests in the context of a fully organized course offering. Within the deartment's policy of providing a relatively small number of broadly defined courses, special studies courses make it possible to increase academic flexibility when the need arises. The department feels that special studies courses are particularly useful in obtaining the services of visiting specialists. D. How does this course affect degree requirements?

The course is an elective.

E. What are the calendar changes necessary to reflect the addition of this course?

See separate calendar entry.

F. What course, if any, is being dropped from the calendar if this course is approved?

None.

- فله خ

G. What is the nature of student demand for this course?

There are frequent student requests for special courses.

H. Other reasons for introducing the course.

The Department feels that the present scheme will make it possible to mount more than one Special Studies course in any one semester should the need arise. The proposed plan will allow the students to take differently numbered special courses, thereby enabling the transcript to show the student's achievement more clearly. A. Which faculty will be available to teach this course?

3.

A substantial number of faculty with specialized interests not covered by regular course offerings, would be prepared to give such a course.

B. What are the special space and/or equipment requirements for this course?

None.

C. Any other budgetary implications of mounting this course:

Mounting this course would involve no additional cost.

Approval:

Curriculum Committee:

Dean of Faculty:

FACULTY OF ARTS

NEW COURSE PROPOSAL

1. CALENDAR INFORMATION

Department: English Course Number: 470 Title: Special Studies C Sub-title or Description:

November, 1969

Seminar attached to 420 \parallel

Credit Hours: 2 Vector Description: 0 - 2 - 0 Pre-requisite(s):

None

2. ENROLMENT AND SCHEDULING

Estimated Enrolment: Variable

Semester Offered (e.g. yearly, every Spring; twice yearly, Fall As required. and Spring):

When will course first be offered?

Not before summer, 1970.

3. JUSTIFICATION

A. What is the detailed description of the course including differentiation from lower level courses, from similar courses in the same department, and from courses in other departments in the University?

The content of the course will vary each time it is offered. Its subject matter will be any aspect of literature in English not covered in the regularly scheduled courses.

B. What is the range of topics that may be dealt with in the course?

Any topic related to literature in English.

C. How does this course fit the goals of the department? The course will utilize the specialized interests of the faculty, thereby enabling the student to benefit from those interests in the context of a fully organized course offering. Within the department's policy of providing a relatively small number of broadly defined courses, Special Studies courses make it possible to increase academic flexibility when the need arises. The department fells that Special Studies courses are particularly useful in obtaining the services of visiting specialists.

D. How does this course affect degree requirements?

The course is an elective.

E. What are the calendar changes necessary to reflect the addition of this course?

See separate calendar entry.

F. What course, if any, is being dropped from the calendar if this course is approved?

None.

G. What is the nature of student demand for this course?

There are frequent student requests for special courses.

H. Other reasons for introducing the course.

The Department feels that the present scheme will make it possible to mount more than one special studies course in any one semester should the need arise. The proposed plan will allow the students to take differently numbered special courses, thereby enabling the transcript to show the student's achievement more clearly. BUDGETARY AND SPACE FACTORS

None.

4.

A. Which faculty will be available to teach this course?

A substantial number of faculty with specialized interests not covered by regular course offerings, would be prepared to give such a course.

B. What are the special space and/or equipment requirements for this course?

C. Any other budgetary implications of mounting this course:

Mounting this course would involve no additional cost.

Appròval:

Curriculum Committee:

Dean of Faculty:

Senate:

· _ _

3.

NEW CODESE PROPOSEL

CALENDAR IMPORTATION

perervent:Elsterg

Course Number: 103-5 Weight

Sub-title or Description: An Symphotic of the cultural Renaissance and Reformation reactioning of Western Europe and Burope of the religious strife within and among the emerging modern states in the sixteenth and seventeenth conturies

Credit Hours: 5 Vector Description: 2-3-0

Pre-roquisite(s): nono

IY ENROLMENT AND SCHEDULING

Estimated Enrolmont: 15 which first given Semester Offered (e.g. Yearly, every Spring; tuice yearly, Fall and Spring):

onco yearly

Whon course will first be offered: Summor Term 1970

III JUSTIFICATION

A. What is the dotailed description of the course including differentiation from lever level courses, from similar courses in the same department and from courses in other departments in the University?

The present History 121 is a survey of European History from 1500 to 1763. It is the only course which offers the student any opportunity to study periods before 1715, and it is, of courses, only an introduction. It would be very desirable to offer that for whose interest has been aroused in History 121, a chemica to course these crucial elements of European Civilization in detail, it a seminar format.

B. What is the range of topics that may be dealt with in the course?

The Italian Ronalssance; the Northern Ronalssance: Courses of the Protestant Referention: Erasums, Luther, Calvin; The Referencies in Connect, in France, in the Low Countries, in Britchn: Calvin's Coneva; The Catholic Country Holomatica; the unity Years New C. How-Cooks while cour spice row grain of the copulate fit

Expands the Department's offerings into a listerical particle & present touched only by a 100-level introductory courses

- D. . How does this course offect dgrae requiremental Does Not.
- E. What are the calendar changes necessary to reflect the addition of this course?
 See revised calendar proposal.
- F. What course, if any, is being dropped from the calendur if this course is approved?

Nono

G. What is the nature of student demand for this course?

Substantial

H. Other reasons for introducing the course.

IV BUDGETARY AND SPACE FACTORS

A. Which faculty will be available to teach this course?

Prof. Charlos Wrong

Ε.

С.

None

Nono

Approval: Curriculum Committee:

Dean of Paculty:

Senate:

What are the synchial space und/or equipmont requirements for this not real

Any other budgetary implications of mounting this course:

Sopposites: 1598

ANTI COURSE PROPOSAL

CALENDAR INPORMATION ï French Department: D.H.L. Course Number: 152-4 Title: Freuch II Sub-title or Description: Emphasis on ral command and accurate and idiomatic. Englission, with some reaching and writing exercices. Credit Hours: A Vector Description: 04-2 Pre-requisite(s): FISI-1 n equivalent BEROLMENT AND SCHEDULING ΪÏ Estimated Envoluent: \mathcal{IO} . Semaster Offered (e.g. Yearly, Livery Spring) trice yearly, Pall and Spring): When course will first be offered: Spruig 1971. III JUSTIFICATION What is the dotailed description of the course including Α. differentiation from lever lovel courses, from sighter courses in the same department and from courses in other departments in the University? Ann is to create a requere FISI-FISP (forfrade 12 students) faiolles to F. 102- F103 (for depinners or near beginners) as we find F151 F102.103 } F201 does 1001 The present system FIJ Mauir enough of our flade 13 entions with in Β. the course? Not afflicates.

C. New down this course fle the peris of the department? Most of min majors and honors would be in the 151, 152 shown, we feel that reparating them from Repinners will allows us to give them a beller preferohon at the 200 level for upper level work.

D. How does this course affect derve requirements? Students who lake Dolk FISIel FIS2 will still to able to complete their lower level low proje to privenents in 4 terms.

E. What are the calendar changes necessary to reflect the addition of this course?

Luserhon of FIS2, peropuisite FISI 57 equivalent. Luserhon of 152 as queropuisite for E201

F. What course, if any, is being dropped from the calendar if this course is approved?

None

· 6. What is the nature of student demand for this course! No join and Honto Andento find they are includently petarid for the written and not work in the 200 level literature courses,

II. Other reasons for introducing the course.

IV BUDGETARY AND SPACE FACTORS

З.

C. Any other budgetary implications of mounting this course:

Approvel:

Curriculum Committee: Dean of Faculty: Semate:

.

. .

Approvel

Dean of Senate:

?		1.13	1 3	r 7	. 1		2 1 1
~	1	X + 12	1.1	ર ચ	· · ·	2 K	、

NEW COURSE PROPOSAL

CALENDAR INFORMATION

Department: D.N.L Sub-title or Description:

		2			1
Course	Number:	130-5	Title	: Juhosh	enon
12	Filmal	Panadi	en li	terature.
40	1 LUNCh -	LANGUL	wh ri	TEXEL FLOUR.	•

French

Credit Hours: 3 Vector Description: 1-20 Pre-requisite(s): 201-3 (Freuch)

II ENROLMENT AND SCHEDULING

Estimated Enrolment: 20

Semester Offered (e.g. Yearly, overy Spring; twice yearly, Well Fall and Spring):

When course will first be offered: Fall 1940.

III JUSTIFICATION

A. What is the detailed description of the course including differentiation from lower level courses, from similar courses in the same department and from courses in other departments in the University?

This will serve to introduce the student to French-Canadian thought through literature and the arts

B. What is the range of topics that may be dealt with in the course? There be loudion a terature D. Now noes this course effect darce requirements? . May be taken for the B.A. as gree

- E. What are the calendar changes necessary to reflect the addition of this course? Theirs, is an albemative for no puinte for uffer level literature courses.
- F. What course, if any, is being dropped from the calendar if this course is approved?

None

G. What is the nature of student demand for this course? The growing interest of the students in French. Causelian file dure from des valuable reasons do introduce this new course at the 200_level.

H. Other reasons for introducing the course.

IV BUDGETARY AND SPACE FACTORS

A. Which faculty will be available to teach this course? Existing Faculty will leach this course en el compositor de la la la conservação da la conservação da la conservação da la conservação da la conservaç Por servação da la conservação

Character arresulation for Stan

C. Any other budgetary implications of mounting this course:

Approval: Curriculum Committee:

Dean of Faculty:

Senate:

ST. P. MIDERAL WROPOCAL

CANONSIN NOTPORES TON Ϊ. French Course Humber: 411-4 Vieta: Maten Tavel Dop: remain: DH.L. GRAmman I Sub-title or Description: Description of modern French monthology and syntax Vector Description: 2.2.0 Credit Hours: 4 Pre-requisite(s): Franch 202-3 and Suipristics 221-3 Franch 301-3 recommended. Students who hold audit for Franch 202.4 and 219-5 connot undertake ENROLMENT AND SCHEDULING Franch 211-4 for further order. ĨΪ Estimated Enrolment: 15 Semester Offered (e.g. Yearly, every Spring; twice yearly, Fall and Spring): EVERY Fall When course will first be offered: Fall 1970 JUSTIFICATION III What is the detailed description of the course including Α. differentiation from lower level courses, from similar courses in the same department and from courses in other departments in the University? Allest Alice Aluce projotels frescuted last from

11/2 4 and 112-4 were arcepted. -For more details about justification, see under FAIR-4

. What is the range of topics that may be dealt with in the course?

Freuch grammar

D. How does this course affect dgree requirements? May be taken for the B.A. de pres

JAC.

E. What are the calendar changes necessary to reflect the addition of this course? None, except 402. A which has to be dupped breause of the shoup hispustic scientation in the

F. What course, if any, is being dropped from the calendar if this course is approved? Fulleh AO2.4

G. What is the nature of student demand for this course? Shitn g

H. Other reasons for introducing the course.

IV BUDGETARY AND SPACE FACTORS

A. Which faculty will be available to teach this course? Stoff. available B. B. Bortlett L. Desouchills I. Sawyer M. Baint. Incourse. B. What are the special space and/or equipment requirements for this course? A Classes A comodulation for 4 function

C. Any other budgetary implications of mounting this course: NO. NUXE.

Approval:

Curriculum Committee:

Dean of Paculty:

Senate:

ANCOLTY OF ARES

- MEN COURSE PROPOSAL

CALENDAR INFORMATION Department: D.M.L. Sub-citie or Description: Theorefical approaches to Apecific grammatical problems.

Credit Hours: 4 Vector Description: 2-2-0 Pre-requisito(s): FALMER 411-4

IX ENROLMENT AND SCHEDULING

Estimated Envoluent: 15 Semester Offered (e.g. Yearly, every Spring: twice yearly, Fall and Spring):

When course will first be offered: Spring 1971

XIX JUSTIFICATION

A. What is the dotailed description of the course including differentiation from lower level courses, from similar courses in the same department and from courses in other departments in the University?

Continues the world of French 411-4. Both French 411-4 and 412-4 replace French 402-4. Their purpose is to travide the necessary training in the hispuist analysis of French. This was un pearible within French Hoawith the addition of a second course in French Grammar itwill be possible to offer a more complete and thereby propand.

B. What is the range of topics that may be dealt with in the course?

French Ghamwar

- C. How does the fact that these two new courses provide Besides the fact that these two new courses provide a deeper study of Hodern French Grammar they also prefare the students directly for their graduate studies in French, especially French 801-3: Problems in French Monthology and French 802-3: Problems in French gratas
- D. Now does this course affect dyroe requirements? Hay be laber for the BA
- E. What are the calendar changes necessary to reflect the addition of this course? Now
- . F. What course, if any, is being dropped from the calendar if this course is approved? TAWEL 402.4

G. What is the nature of student depend for this course? Shong (in foel they need a deeper affrocch of groundetied problems).

H. Other reasons for introducing the course.

IV BUDGETARY AND SPACE FACTORS

A. Which faculty will be available to teach this course? Alg. available : L. Descubyers.

B. Bertlett. N. Swint. JACPMES.

- B. What are the special space and/or equipment requirements for this course?
 - a Acminan Noom.

C. Any other budgetary implications of mounting this course: NOW

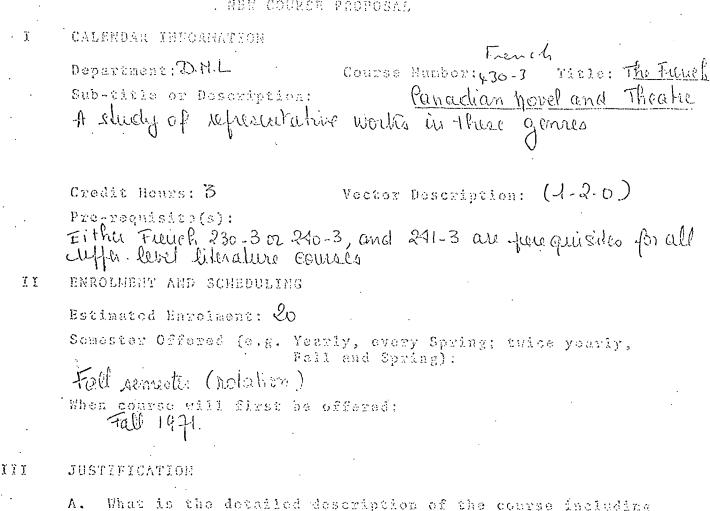

Approval: Curriculum Committee: Dean of Faculty:

Sonato:

FAGELEY VE ARES

8030000022 . 3960

MEN CORRER PROPOSAL

differentiation from lover level courses, from similar courses in the seme department and free courses in other . departments in the University? to replace the former French Councilian likecture course

Β. What is the range of topics that may be dealt with in the course? Funch Canadian like shere

FA48-3.

D. Now does this course affect dyres requirements? Hey be belled for the B. A clipter

Ċ,

- E. What are the calendar changes necessary to reflect the addition of this course?
- F. What course, if any, is being dropped from the calendar if this course is approved?
 - F. 440.3
- G. What is the nature of student demand for this course?

H. Other reasons for introducing the course.

IV BUDGETARY AND SPACE PACTORS

Stimp

A. Which faculty will be evailable to teach this course? Sloff available: G. Meiler, J. Viswanothan. C. Any other budgetary implications of mounting this course: VOr0

Approval: Curriculum Committee:

Doan of Faculty: Senate:

3.

· NEW COURSE PROPOSAL

CALENDAR INFORMATION

X

Dopartmont: D.H.L Course Number: 431-3 virie: The Thend Sub-title or Description: A Study of representative Works in poetry

Credit Hours: 3 Vector Description: 1-2-0 Pre-requisite(s): Fither French 230-3 n 240-3, and 241-3

II ENROLMENT AND SCHEDULING

Estimated Envoluent: 20

Semester Offered (e.g. Yearly, every Spring: twice yearly, Fall and Spring):

Summer (10tahan)

When course will first be offered: Summer 1974

III JUSTIFICATION

A. What is the detailed description of the course including differentiation from lover level courses, from similar courses in the same department and from courses in other departments in the University?

B. What is the range of topics that may be dealt with in the course?

Freyeli-Courdion literchine

, G. . Here four this reason it's the goalt of the depertment?

D. Now does this course effect dyree requirements? Now be taken for the BA eliptic.

- E. What are the calendar changes necessary to reflect the addition of this course?
 - The body of French. Conachian literature is of such scope that it seems preferable to divide it into several courses in order to study the entire field adequately. Therefore, Trench 140-3 is replaced by two new courses: French 430-3 and French 431-3.

F. What course, if any, is being dropped from the celondar if this course is approved? 440-3

G. What is the nature of student demand for this course?

H. Other reasons for introducing the course.

IV BUDGETARY AND SPACE FACTORS

A. Which faculty will be available to teach this course? Existing Faculty will teach B. What are the special space and/or equipment requirements for this course? . Classer accomodation for Shows i

C. Any other budgetary implications of mounting this course:

Approval:

Curriculum Committeo:

Doen of Pacalty: Senate:

FACULTY OF ARTS

NEW COURSE PROPOSAL

I. CALENDAR INFORMATION

Department: DML

Course No. French 448-4 Title: The Enlightenment

Sub-title or Description:

A Study of Representative Works of the Pre-Revolution Period.

Credit Hours: 4 Vector Description: 2 -2 -0

Pre-requisite(s): Either French 230-3 or 240-3, and 241-3

II. ENROLMENT AND SCHEDULING

Estimated Enrolment: 20

Semester Offered: Spring (rotation)

When course will first be offered: Spring 1971

- III. JUSTIFICATION
 - A. What is the detailed description of the course including differentiation from lower level courses, from similar courses in the same department and from courses in other departments in the University?
 - B. What is the range of topics that may be dealt with in the course?

French Literature

C. How does this course fit the goals of the department?

The French Literature Program progresses from the 17th Century to the 20th, making no provision from the 18th Century. Moreover, the 18th Century is a vital period in French Literature and is the necessary key to an understanding of both the 19th and the 20th Centuries.

D. How does this course affect degree requirements?

May be taken for B.A. degree.

- E. What are the calendar changes necessary to reflect the addition of this course?
- F. What course, if any, is being dropped from the calendar if this course is approved?
- G. What is the nature of student demand for this course?
- H. Other reacons for introducing the course

- IV. BUDGETARY AND SPACE FACTORS
 - A. Which faculty will be available to teach this course? Staff available: J. Viswanathan, G. Merler
 - B. What are the special space and/or equipment requirements for this course?

Classroom

C. Any other budgetary implications of mounting this course: No.

Approval:

Curriculum Committee:

Dean of Faculty:

Senate:

FACULTY OF ARTS

NEW COURSE PROPOSAL

I. CALENDAR INFORMATION

Department: DML

Course No. Russian 449 Title: Honors Essay

Sub-title or Description:

The topic of a comprehensive nature to be approved by the Chairman of the Russian literature programme. This may also be taken by Majors.

Credit Hours: 3 Vector description -

Pre-requisite(s)

Major/Honors standing

II. ENROLMENT AND SCHEDULING

Estimated Enrolment: 2?

Semester Offered: Every semester

When course will first be offered: Summer 1970

III. JUSTIFICATION

A. What is the detailed description of the course including differentiation from lower level courses, from similar courses in the same department and from courses in other departments in the University?

This is designed to equate with French 449-3, of exactly the same description. There is no similar lower level course in Russian.

B. What is the range of topics that may be dealt with in the course?

Any topic of a literary nature, subject to Chairman's approval.

C. How does this course fit the goals of the department?

Reflecting the need for a suitable upper level essay type course (with directed reading as necessary), working towards the production of a better rounded student.

D. How does this course affect degree requirements?

None

E. What are the calendar changes necessary to reflect the addition of this course?

This will be required for Honors in literature.

F. What course, if any, is being dropped from the calendar if this course is approved?

None

G. What is the nature of student demand for this course?

Strong.

H. Other reasons for introducing the course?

It gives majors concentrating on literature greater variety in their choice of specialization.

IV. BUDGETARY AND SPACE FACTORS

A. Which faculty will be available to teach this course?

Two: Mrs. Harden, Mr. Shoolbraid

B. What are the special space and/or equipment requirements for this course?

None

C. Any other budgetary implications of mounting this course:

None

Approval: Curriculum Committee:

Dean of Faculty:

Senate:

FACULTY OF ARTS

NEW COURSE PROPOSAL

I. CALENDAR INFORMATION

Department: DML Course No. 120

Title: Elementary Modern Scandinavian

Description: As per Calendar

Credit Hours: 4 Vector Descr

Vector Description: 1 - 3 - 0

Pre-requisite(s): None

II. ENROLMENT AND SCHEDULING

Estimated Enrolment: 15

Semester Offered (e.g. Yearly, every Spring; twice yearly, Fall and Spring):

Yearly

When course will first be offered: Spring 1970

III. JUSTIFICATION

A. What is the detailed description of the course including differentiation from lower level courses, from similar courses in the same department and from courses in other departments in the University?

This course will train students to speak Modern Norwegian or Modern Swedish. There is no other course in the University which offers anything remotely similar. On the other hand, being Germanic languages, they fit in very well with the other offerings in this field, i.e. Elementary Spoken German (Ger 102/103), and will of course also provide an excellent basis for historical and comparative Germanic work.

B. What is the range of topics that may be dealt with in the course?

- 1. Training in elementary Spoken Norwegian/Swedish
- 2. Comparison (structural) with other modern Scandinavian languages (e.g. Danish, Icelandic and either Norwegian or Swedish)
- C. How does this course fit the goals of the department?
 - 1. In accordance with the expressed aim of the DML to train linguists, knowledge of additional languages is invaluable for all structural, historical and comparative work.
 - 2. In addition, it provides additional training for students in what is a secondary but highly practical goal: language learning and teaching techniques.

D. How does this course affect degree requirements?

It would be an elective course.

E. What are the calendar changes necessary to reflect the addition of this course?

Zero

F. What course, if any, is being dropped from the calendar if this course is approved?

None

G. What is the nature of student demand for this course?

About 15 students from within the DML have indicated interest so far. No canvassing has been done outside the department.

More importantly, it is in line with the policy of German faculty within the DNL to try and teach courses which are pertinent to Canadians, B.C. residents and SFU students - and there is, of course, a large number of Scandinavians living in B.C.

H. Other reasons for introducing the course.

We want to be flexible in our offerings and not offer only and forever Modern German. We would like to be able to offer, at different times, and according to our available manpower, a number of different modern Germanic languages; but it makes sense to start with Scandinavian, if only for reasons of student interest.

IV. BUDGETARY AND SPACE FACTORS

A. Which faculty will be available to teach this course?

Richard Fort

- B. What are the special space and/or equipment requirements for this course? Just a normal classroom assignment three days a week.
- C. Any other budgetary implications of mounting this course:

None

Approval: Curriculum Committee:

Dean of Faculty:

Senate:

FACULTY OF ARTS

NEW COURSE PROPOSAL

I. CALENDAR INFORMATION

Department: DML Course No.: 110

Title: Reading Spanish I

Description: "An accelerated course for beginners who need the ability to read and translate journals, texts and literary works. Open to all students. (Does not count toward the Departmental requirements for Spanish Major or Honors.)"

Credit Hours: 3 Vector Description: 1 - 2 - 0

Pre-requisite(s): None

II. ENROLMENT AND SCHEDULING

Estimated Enrolment: 25 - 30

Semester Offered: (e.g. Yearly, every Spring; twice yearly, Fall and Spring)

once per year; normally in fall

When course will first be offered: Spring 1970 (in order to meet expressed demands).

III. JUSTIFICATION

- A. What is the detailed description of the course including differentiation from lower level courses, from similar courses in the same department and from courses in other departments in the University? A detailed description is contained in the subtitle above. The new course neither duplicates nor conflicts with any other offering of the Department. Emphasis is on skill-building necessary to rapid reading and translation; this does not conflict with the audiolingual approach of 102-103.
- B. What is the range of topics that may be dealt with in the course?

Since the course is to teach effective reading skill in a second language, "topics" as such do not exist. Any material lending itself to the expressed purpose of the course might be employed.

C. How does this course fit the goals of the department?

The course is seen as a service course to other departments. As such, it does not have to "fit" into the general "goals" of the Department, except to the extent that it will make materials in Spanish available to a wider segment of the University Community.

- 2 --
- D. How does this course affect degree requirements?

Does not count toward departmental degree requirements.

E. What are the calendar changes necessary to reflect the addition of this course?

Insertion of the course.

F. What course, if any, is being dropped from the calendar if this course is approved?

None.

G. What is the nature of student demand for this course?

Students from a number of disciplines, including PSA, History, Geography and Economics have requested this course.

H. Other reasons for introducing the course.

IV. BUDGETARY AND SPACE FACTORS

A. Which faculty will be available to teach this course?

Colhoun, Garcia, Hammerly, Kim, Kirschner and Knowles.

- B. What are the special space and/or equipment requirements for this course? None.
- C. Any other budgetary implications of mounting this course?

None--with the possible exception that it would be profitable to develop a limited number of library holdings.

APPROVAL: Curriculum Committee:

Dean of Faculty:

Senate:

FACULTY OF ARTS NEW COURSE PROPOSAL

I. CALENDAR INFORMATION

Department: DML

Sub-title or Description:

Continues the work of Spanish 110-3.

Credit Hours: 3 Vector Description: 1 -2 -0

Pre-requisite(s): Spanish 110-3 or equivalent

II. ENROLMENT AND SCHEDULING

Estimated Enrolment: 25-30

Semester Offered: Once per year; normally in Spring

When course will first be offered: Summer or fall 1970, depending upon demand and availability of staff.

III. JUSTIFICATION

A. What is the detailed description of the course including differentiation from lower level courses, from similar courses in the same department and from courses in other departments in the University?

The second semester of an accelerated reading course for those who need the ability to read and translate journals, texts and literary works. The course neither duplicates or conflicts with any other offering of the Department.

- B. What is the range of topics that may be dealt with in the course? Any material lending itself to the expressed purpose of the course.
- C. How does this course fit the goals of the department?

A service course designed to make Spanish materials available to a wider segment of the University Community, the course is really "outside" the immediate goals of the Department. It is, however, designed to meet the expressed needs of other members of the community.

D. How does this course affect degree requirements?

Does not count toward Departmental degree requirements.

E. What are the calendar changes necessary to reflect the addition of this course?

Insertion of the course.

Course No. Spanish 111 Title: Reading Spanish II F. What course, if any, is being dropped from the calendar if this course is approved?

None

G. What is the nature of student demand for this course?

Students from a number of disciplines have requested this course. (PSA, History, Geography, Economics, etc.)

H. Other reasons for introducing the course?

IV. BUDGETARY AND SPACE FACTORS

A. Which faculty will be available to teach this course?

Colhoun, Garcia, Hammerly, Kim, Kirschner, Knowles.

B. What are the special space and/or equipment requirements for this course?

None

۰.

C. Any other budgetary implications of mounting this course:

None - with the possible exception that it would be profitable to develop a limited number of library holdings.

Approval:

Curriculum Committee:

Dean of Faculty:

Senate:

FACULTY OF ARTS

NEW COURSE PROPOSAL

I CALENDAR INFORMATION

الم سر المر

Department:PhilosophyCourse Number:209Title:
Epistemology &
MetaphysicsSub-title or Description:Metaphysics

An advanced treatment of the topics dealt with in Philosophy 100.

Credit Hours: 3 Vector Description: 2-1-0

Pre-requisite(s): Philosophy 100

Philosophy 209 is a pre-requisite for all majors and honors Philosophy students.

II ENROLMENT AND SCHEDULING

Estimated Enrolment: 50-100

Semester Offered (e.g. Yearly, every Spring; twice yearly, Fall and Spring):

Twice Yearly

When course will first be offered: Summer or Fall 1970

III JUSTIFICATION

A. What is the detailed description of the course including differentiation from lower level courses, from similar courses in the same department and from courses in other departments in the University?

See IIIA in proposal of Philosophy 208. In addition, this course is a continuation of Philosophy 100. In that course the student is introduced to problems of knowledge and certainty, truth, other minds, probability etc., but in a very broad way. Philosophy 209 is meant to focus in on some smaller class of these central issues to look at them more carefully. We envisage doing this by treating in detail some Philosophical texts - e.g., Plato's Theaetetus and Hume's Enquiries.

This is impossible in Philosophy 100 where we are primarily concerned with understanding what the issues are. In Philosophy 209, we presuppose that and study them in more detail in preparation for upper level work. Thus, in Philosophy 100 where the readings cover a broad spectrum of problems, we try to develop the student's interest by showing many areas of cpistemological concern. In Philosophy 209, we will look at the alternative solutions to problems of knowledge and certainty. These solutions are metaphysical in that they comprise a theory about reality and how we can know it. The nature of these solutions is briefly introduced in Philosophy 100, but there the emphasis is on what comprises a good Philosophical question in this area. Philosophy 209 moves on to a more detailed study of the possible answers to a few of these questions.

B. What is the range of topics that may be dealt with in the course?

The topics will vary, as will the texts, depending on who is teaching, but the range of topics will remain the same - namely a continuation of topics for Philosophy 100. Again, it is to be emphasized, the overlap with Philosophy 100 is a desired one and cannot be viewed as a duplication of Philosophy 100. It is a continuation. One cannot hope to deal with Philosophy problems of this scope and number in one semester anyway, and 209, by being a continuation, will serve to more adequately prepare students for upper level work. It will be a far more adequate introduction.

- C. How does this course fit the goals of the department? See III C for Philosophy 208.
- D. How does this course affect degree requirements? 209 is a pre-requisite for majors and honors students in Philosophy.
- E. What are the calendar changes necessary to reflect the addition of this course? A clause to the effect of "D" above.
- F. What course, if any, is being dropped from the calendar if this course is approved?
- G. What is the nature of student demand for this course? This is another of the courses requested by students to fill the gap that they, as well as we faculty, feel exist in the present program.
- H. Other reasons for introducing the course. A and B above and III A in Philosophy 208.

IV BUDGETARY AND SPACE FACTORS

- A. Which faculty will be available to teach this course? All faculty are interested in teaching this course at some time.
- B. What are the special space and/or equipment requirements for this course? None
- C. Any other budgetary implications of mounting this course: None

Approval:

Curriculum Committee:

Dean of Faculty:

Senate:

FACULTY OF ARTS

NEW COURSE PROPOSAL

I CALENDAR INFORMATION

Department:	Philosophy	Course Number:	208	Title : Introduction to
Sub-title or	Philosophy of
An introdu	Language

of Language

Credit Hours: 3 Vector Description: 2-1-0

Pre-requisite(s): Either Philosophy 100 or 102. Philosophy 208 is a pre-requisite for all Majors & Honors Philosophy students.

II ENROLMENT AND SCHEDULING

Estimated Enrolment: 50-100

Semester Offered (e.g. Yearly, every Spring: twice yearly, Fall and Spring):

Twice yearly

When course will first be offered:

Summer or Fall 1970

III JUSTIFICATION

A. What is the detailed description of the course including differentiation from lower level courses, from similar courses in the same department and from courses in other departments in the University?

A major problem with our present Philosophy program is that there is not a sufficient bridge from lower to upper level courses. The lower level courses do not prepare students for the rigors of the upper level courses. We therefore want to introduce two courses (208 & 209) which are specifically designed to develop the background necessary for successful upper level work. In part the problem is generated from the necessity of lower level courses being services for all students in the University as well as for prospective majors and honors in Philosophy. We cannot, therefore, deal only with those things of interest to majors and honors students in Philosophy, but must teach broad courses of interest to practicall 208 (and 209) are meant especially to fill in these gaps anyone. and especially to give the students a taste of the intensity they will experience in upper level work, presently lacking in the lower level. At present the jump to upper level tends to be too costly to students - their grades suffer more than they should, and they have too much to catch up on which in turn slows down the upper level courses. 208 and 209 would be open to other students as well, since we find there are many students from other departments interested in Philosophy beyond the present introductory level, but who do not wish to major. 208 and 209 are, then, more advanced lower level courses which will better prepare students for upper level, and yet be interesting to students not planning to major or honor in Philosophy.

B. What is the range of topics that may be dealt with in the course?

Practically all Philosophy in the 20th Century involves questions about meaning and language. The present upper level Philosophy of Language course (400) deals with specific Philosophic topics central to the study of language itself. 208 would be a broader course designed to prepare students in the fundamentals of such topics. E.g., reference, connotation, sentences, statements, propositions, universals, and theories of meaning such as the verification and performative theories. We have found that, given the complexity of Philosophy of Language, the higher levels of inquiry about meaning, truth, extension and intension, including the work of Wittgenstein cannot be properly conducted without first spending a great deal of time on fundamentals. This introductory course would also prepare students in ways of looking at other Philosophic areas - e.g., Philosophy of Mind, Philosophical Logic, Philosophical Analysis - which again presuppose fundamentals we have assumed students to have learned in the present lower level courses but which they have not. 208 is meant to fill this gap.

C. How does this course fit the goals of the department?

Our goals are two: (1) to provide a range of courses interesting to the general student and to broaden his interest in the humanities by teaching him to raise philosophic questions about assumptions and arguments wherever he can. (2) to first provide superior undergraduate preparation for graduate work in Philosophy, and secondly, a sound major for students who wish to pursue careers in e.g., law, medicine and government. This new course helps satisfy the second goal. It is a beginning towards focusing a student's abilities on the details and complexities of philosophic inquiry rather than a continuation of the broadening of interest upon which the other lower level courses are based.

D. How does this course affect degree requirements?

This course and 209 are prerequisites for majors and honors.

E. What are the calendar changes necessary to reflect the addition of this course?

Adding a clause to the effect ot "D" above, to the calendar.

- F. What course, if any, is being dropped from the calendar if this course is approved? None
- G. What is the nature of student demand for this course? The Department received a petition from students asking for courses such as 208 and 209.
- H. Other reasons for introducing the course.
 See A and B above.

IV BUDGETARY AND SPACE FACTORS

- A. Which faculty will be available to teach this course? All present faculty are interested in teaching this course.
- B. What are the special space and/or equipment requirements for this course? None
- C. Any other budgetary implications of mounting this course: None

Approval:

Curriculum Committee:

Dean of Faculty:

Senate:

FACULTY OF ARTS

NEW COURSE PROPOSAL

I CALENDAR INFORMATION

Department: Philosophy Course Number: 438 Title: History of Philoso Sub-title or Description: 488 (Reading Course) Selected

A critical examination of selected works of one or more philosopher

Credit Hours: 3-lecture Vector Description: lecture 2-1-0 2-reading course reading 0-1-1 Pre-requisite(s): 437 and 487 in Philosophy

II ENROLMENT AND SCHEDULING

Estimated Enrolment: 20-25

Semester Offered (e.g. Yearly, every Spring; twice yearly, Fall and Spring): twice yearly When course will first be offered: Spring 1970

- III JUSTIFICATION: (Please include an outline or some other more detailed indication of the nature of the course than that contained in the calendar description. Use a separate paper for this.)
 - A. What is the nature of student demand for this course? Heavy student demand to take courses on a specific philosopher or topic. Many students would like to take two or three such courses which would be impossible with just one selected topics course; in particular, a number of students who took 437 in the Summer (Husserl and Phenomenology) want to take the Spring selected works course on Aristotle (they would register in 438)
 - B. Where does this course fit in terms of the educational programs of the Department?

These courses offer considerable and much needed flexibility to both faculty and students to study in detail a particular philosopher. Faculty are often interested in a figure or topic which could not be feasibly taught and not taught with the same intensity under the more general course titles.

C. Where does this course fit in terms of the educational programs of the Faculty and University?

Very often the course will involve figures interesting to member of other departments - e.g., Wittgenstein, Aristorie, and, this semester, Themas Reid who would interest students of Jach contury intellectual history. D. What course, if any, is being dropped from the calendar if this course is approved? None

E. To what degree is there overlap between this course and any other offered

(a) by the Department? None

(b) by any other Department? None

F. Other reasons for introducing the course:

IV BUDGETARY AND SPACE FACTORS

- A. Which faculty will be available to teach this course? Those who are interested and where such a course can be offered without sacrificing more essential courses. In Spring 1970: Douglas Wallace teaching Aristotle.
- B. What are the special space and/or equipment requirements for this course? None
- C. Any other budgetary implications of mounting this course:

None

Approval:

Curriculum Committee:

Dean of Faculty:

Senate:

2.

New Course Proposal
 From Philosophy Department
 September 16, 1969

COVERING NOTE

Because the demand for these courses has just emerged, we want them to be available for the Spring Semester 1970. We hope that this submission is near enough to the beginning of this semester to be approved. If not, we would ask for a waiving of this particular requirement in view of the demand for the course.

FACULTY OF ARTS

NEW COURSE PROPOSAL

CALENDAR INFORMATION

Department:PhilosophyCourse Number:Title:History of PhilosophySub-title or Description:489 (Reading Course)Selected Wor

A critical examination of selected works of one or more philosophers.

Credit Hours: 3-lecture Vector Description: lecture 2-1-0 2-reading course reading 0-1-1 Pre-requisite(s): 437 and 487 in Philosophy

II ENROLMENT AND SCHEDULING

Estimated Enrolment: 20-25

Semester Offered (e.g. Yearly, every Spring; twice yearly, Fall and Spring): twice yearly When course will first be offered: Spring 1970

- III JUSTIFICATION: (Please include an outline or some other more detailed indication of the nature of the course than that contained in the calendar description. Use a separate paper for this.)
 - A. What is the nature of student demand for this course? Heavy student demand to take courses on a specific philosopher or topic. Many students would like to take two or three such courses which would be impossible with just one selected topics course; in particular, a number of students who took 437 in the Summer (Husserl and Phenomenology) want to take the Spring selected works course on Aristotle (they would register in 438).
 - B. 'Where does this course fit in terms of the educational programs of the Department?

These courses offer considerable and much needed flexibility to both faculty and students to study in detail a particular philosopher. Faculty are often interested in a figure or topic which could not be feasibly taught and not taught with the same intensity under the more general course titles.

C. Where does this course fit in terms of the educational programs of the Faculty and University?

Very often the course will involve figures interesting to members of other departments - e.g., wittgenstein, Aristotle, and, this sense., Themas Reid who could interest students of 1 th contury intellectual history.

I

- D. What course, if any, is being dropped from the calendar if this course is approved? None
- E. To what degree is there overlap between this course and any other offered
 - (a) by the Department? None
 - (b) by any other Department? None
- F. Other reasons for introducing the course:
- IV BUDGETARY AND SPACE FACTORS
 - A. Which faculty will be available to teach this course? Those who are interested and where such a course can be offered without sacrificing more essential courses. In Spring 1970: Douglas Wallace teaching Aristotle.
 B. What are the special space and/on equipment provincements for this.
 - B. What are the special space and/or equipment requirements for this course?

None

C. Any other budgetary implications of mounting this course:

None

Approval:

Curriculum Committee:

Dean of Faculty:

Senate:

2.

New Course Proposal From Philosophy Department September 16, 1969

COVERING NOTE

Because the demand for these courses has just emerged, we want them to be available for the Spring Semester 1970. We hope that this submission is near enough to the beginning of this semester to be approved. If not, we would ask for a waiving of this particular requirement in view of the demand for the course.