

SIMON FRASER UNIVERSITY
FACULTY OF EDUCATION
Undergraduate Course: Education 407-5
Implementation of Curriculum in Teacher Education
Spring, 1991

This course is open to School Associates working with New Caledonia Teacher Education Consortium (NEW CALTEC) or Northwest Teacher Education Consortium (NWTEC) in the 1990-91 school year who have been accepted as students at Simon Fraser University.

Description

The course has two components:

- a) the instructional component consists of involvement in the School Associate Orientation Sessions which are held in the NEW CALTEC or NWTEC Districts during the 1990-91 school year. It is in these sessions that participants will examine and articulate their practice and begin the process of developing strategies to introduce student teachers to the knowledge and practice of teaching and learning.
- b) the classroom component consists of reflection on and analysis of the work with student teachers in the School Associate's school and classroom.

Outcomes

1. participants will keep a reflective journal of their experience as teacher educators (50%)
2. participants will devise a method for receiving feedback from their student teacher(s) as to his or her (their) perception(s) of the semester experience (20%)
3. participants will devise a method to demonstrate their evaluation and analysis of the School Associate work relating it to some of the literature on teacher education. Required readings will be supplied. (30%)

The manner in which these outcomes are demonstrated to the instructor is open to negotiation between the instructor and the participant.
