

Intersession

Tue & Thur 4.30-8.30

Location: MPX 7610

Educ 465-4 : CHILDREN'S LITERATURE

This course will examine the various modes of children's literature, (the picture book, poetry, novel, diary, legend, myth, folktale, adolescent fiction, stories). Participants will explore different techniques for assisting young people in responding to what they listen to and read. Some of the techniques used will be role-playing, story telling, choral speaking, improvising, researching, writing, scripting and using different media. While the literature of the past will be examined, particular emphasis will be placed on contemporary materials.

Text: Writers, Critics and Children, Edited by Geoff Fox et al. Heinemann Educational Books.