

SIMON FRASER UNIVERSITY
SUMMER SEMESTER 2006

EDUC 471-4
CURRICULUM DEVELOPMENT: THEORY AND PRACTICE
(E02.00)

Gillian Judson
email: gcj@sfu.ca
Phone: TBA

MONDAY 5:30-9:20 edb 7600B

PREREQUISITE: 60 credit hours.

Course Description:

This course examines how theory and practice interweave in currere, the process that is curriculum. Course readings offer a wide range of conceptual and methodological resources for thinking about curriculum development and practice. Employing a variety of theoretical perspectives including historical, political, postmodern, and relational curriculum discourses, we will examine how curriculum theory influences curriculum development and practice. Specific topics include: curriculum models, diversity, democracy, and imaginative education.

Expectations:

Students are expected to attend all classes, read all required materials, and complete course assignments on time. In addition, they are expected to develop a personal stance that illustrates that they have taken ownership of and engaged with course themes. Finally, students are expected to be active participants in class discussions and small group activities.

Evaluation:

Individual Project/Paper	40%
Group Workshop	30%
Personal Stance	10%
Attendance/Participation (Weekly Reading Responses)	20%

Required Text:

Custom Courseware - EDUC 471 Instructor Gillian Judson
(Courseware available from SFU bookstore Burnaby Campus)

*Additional readings will be on reserve and in course files for students to photocopy.

Required / Recommended / Reserve Reading Lists will be available during first class.

Return to Education's Undergraduate 2006-2 Course Outlines Main Page.
