Attendance at Board meetings was very good in 1989 in spite of the length of meetings and the difficult cases involved. Readmission appeals dominated, and the volume of these appeals is such that personal hearings cannot be conducted. This has dismayed some appellants, who have felt that their appeals have not been given a fair hearing. This view was echoed in the Student Society Ombudsperson's report. There is little to be done in the present circumstances.

Board members have been gratified to see that the subsequent academic performance of readmitted students has been significantly better than before the imposition of more stringent screenings. In the case of students who are required to withdraw in their lower levels, the Board's advice to study at a college appears to serve the student's academic interest well, but for those who are withdrawn in the upper levels, it is difficult to suggest suitable coursework which would both advance the student's program and provide evidence for a favourable readmission appeal.

Members of the Board perform a very valuable service for the University and their service is much appreciated.

In addition to the appeals shown on the attached table, the Director of Admissions and Liaison handled cases through delegated authority as follows:

Admission	96
Readmission	10
Early Readmission	5
Retroactive withdrawal	37
Selective Retroactive withdrawal	7
Other	2
