(Philosophical Issues in Education)

Fall 1984 Semester

INSTRUCTOR: Dr. Cornel Hamm

Tuesdays, Thursdays, 10:30 - 11:20
(plus 1 hour tutorial per week)

LOCATION: on campus

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

This course is an introduction to philosophy of education. As such it is intended to provide prospective teachers as well as others interested in education an opportunity to examine a variety of educational problems from a philosophical perspective. The central concern of the course is to elucidate the nature of education as a phenomenon distinguishable from such activities as training, schooling, and socialization. It should enable one to think more clearly and critically about a host of problems, issues and concepts in education. There are no pre-requisites for the course. A brief course outline follows:

- A. The Nature of Philosophical Issues in Education
 1. What are philosophical problems in education?
 2. What role does philosophy have in solving educational problems?
- B. The Language of Education
 1. Meaning and definitions in education.
 2. Slogans and metaphors in education.
 3. Problems of vagueness, ambiguity, and emotive uses of language.
- C. The Nature of Education
