

SIMON FRASER UNIVERSITY
FIRST NATIONS LANGUAGE TEACHER EDUCATION PROGRAM

EDUCATION 370-3
"Looking in Classrooms"
(N1.00)
(Cat #84224)

Fall Semester, 1993
(September 7 - December 6)
Location: Prince Rupert
(First Nations)

Instructor: Debbie Leighton-Stephens
Phone: 624-2803

PREREQUISITE: 60 hours of credit

This course is a three credit course offered in Prince Rupert for the students of the First Nations Language Teacher Education Program.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

1. Further develop an understanding of classroom practise through classroom observations.
2. Further develop an understanding of current educational practises.
3. Plan, teach and evaluate a sequence of learning experiences to achieve intended outcomes.
4. Assume responsibility for professional growth.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Sequence of four plans, incorporating two cooperative learning strategies and a resource from local resource centre.....20

Teach a lesson from sequence to class, minimum 30 minutes, self evaluation.15

Reflection log, for seminar topics, readings, classroom observation.....25

Participation: 1. Attendance, 2. Setting up and performing observations, 3. Teach lesson to children, 4. Active participation in seminars, introduction activity, story reading.40

REQUIRED TEXTBOOKS

Van Manen, Max. The Tone of Teaching. Parent/Teacher Guide to Children's Learning. Scholastic Educational Paperbacks. 1986. ISBN 0-590-71631