Re: 2022/2023 Senate Committee on Continuing Studies Annual Report to Senate

For Senate's information, please find enclosed the 2022/2023 Annual Report of the Senate Committee on Continuing Studies.

Within Lifelong Learning, the Continuing Studies area offers over two dozen programs and hundreds of courses to learners on virtually every continent. We partner with numerous associations to align our programming with professional certifications that meet learners' goals throughout their careers. Last year, non-credit education provided flexible learning opportunities to over 5,500 students of all ages.

The Senate Committee on Continuing Studies is responsible to review all non-credit certificates and diplomas offered by the University. On behalf of the University, I would like to thank the members of the committee for supporting this important work.

As our SFU Lifelong Learning Community Report for 2022/2023 highlights, your support helps to empower learners, build communities and extend the reach of SFU within Canada and around the world.

Senate Committee on Continuing Studies Annual Report to Senate for 2022/2023

Composition and Mandate

The current membership of the Senate Committee on Continuing Studies (SCCS) is the Dean of Lifelong Learning (chair), Dean of Libraries, two faculty members, two at-large members, one convocation member and one student (see Appendix A). The SCCS meets twice each calendar year (fall and spring) and is responsible to advise Senate on policy with respect to the overall development of the University's non-credit certificates and diplomas. The Committee also reviews and approves proposals for non-credit certificates and non-credit diplomas, which includes the establishment of, changes to, and discontinuance of non-credit certificates and non-credit diplomas. The SCCS reports its activities annually to Senate.

Actions of the SCCS in Academic Year 2022/2023

The Senate Committee on Continuing Studies met on October 14, 2022 and May 19, 2023
