BUS 694: BRAVE CONVERSATIONS FOR BUILDING TRUST AND COLLABORATION I

“Ultimately, the team you build is the company you build.”

Vinod Khosla, Co-founder Sun Microsystems

Instructor: Dr. Jeffrey Yip

Semester: Fall 2024

Email: j_yip@sfu.ca

Office Hours: You can use the following link to schedule a meeting: <https://calendly.com/jeffyip/>

Course Description and Objectives

This course on Brave Conversations will cover the skills and tools for building trust and collaboration with your Executive MBA peers and in your organization. Brave conversations are trust-based, collaborative, and honest conversations that address the core concerns of individuals and organizations. These conversations require courage and vulnerability, as they often involve addressing difficult issues or speaking up about different truths. Brave conversations can be used to address conflicts, improve communication, build trust, and foster a more inclusive and supportive work environment.

The first series of conversations will begin during your EMBA orientation weekend. Through a series of interactive sessions, you will learn the skills and techniques to have meaningful and effective conversations across differences, even in the face of disagreement and emotional intensity. At the end of the series, you will have a solid understanding of the fundamentals of collaboration and be equipped with the tools and techniques to apply in any team or organization.

This is Part I of a paired course. Students must take this course before continuing on to BUS 695: Brave Conversations II.

Learning Goals

1. Learn to build and sustain trust and collaboration in executive teams
2. Learn tools and practices for collaborative problem-solving
3. Learn skills to hold brave conversations and to build a culture of holding brave conversations in the workplace

Course Expectations

You are expected to apply a high level of engagement, participation and reflective practice. Class preparation and participation as well as active involvement in teamwork, are key to effective learning in this course.

My guiding principles as an instructor:

- (1) I bring my best to the classroom and I expect the same,
- (2) We will question assumptions,

- (3) We will learn from perspectives different from our own,
- (4) We will end class with insights to apply on Monday.

Course Material

This course will consist of a mixture of informed discussions, small group exercises, case analysis, and group assignments. I will post copies of any slides on Canvas after class. Please do not distribute these files outside of class without permission.

Learning and Assessments

Assessment summary

Evaluation in the course will be based on a combination of group and individual work.

	Assignment	Due Date
Individual	Brave Conversation I
	Peer and Team Feedback
Team	Team Charter I

Attendance and Class Contribution

Class Contribution will be a key factor in the success of the course. Mutual learning will be an important objective of the course. Individual preparation to discuss the assigned course material, and a willingness to share knowledge and perspectives is expected. You are expected to attend each class and to arrive in class on time.

Attendance is required for all sessions. Excused absences should be requested via email to your instructor. More than two unexcused absences will result in a failed contribution grade.

Late Assignments

Please submit all of your assignments on time. Extensions can be granted if you have a documented medical emergency (with a Doctor's note) or family emergency.

Course Policies

Inclusiveness and Accommodations

Read the Diversity and Inclusion Community Guidelines and operate from these guidelines while in class, tutorials and any team meetings outside class

All of us have different access needs; some of these may be readily apparent, while others may not. Each student is equally important to the success of the course, so we will work together to make sure that everyone can participate. I want all students to have the opportunity to perform at their highest potential. If a student has a disability that may require accommodations, please notify the Centre for Accessible Learning (<https://www.sfu.ca/students/accessible-learning.html>) as soon as possible. The Centre for Accessible Learning exists to ensure that fair and reasonable accommodations are made for students who need them.

Reading and Course Schedule

Readings can be found on Canvas and through external links.

Academic Integrity

SFU's Academic Integrity web site <http://www.sfu.ca/students/academicintegrity.html> is filled with information on what is meant by academic dishonesty, where you can find resources to help with your studies and the consequences of cheating. Check out the site for more information and videos that help explain the issues in plain English.

Each student is responsible for his or her conduct as it affects the University community. Academic dishonesty, in whatever form, is ultimately destructive of the values of the University. Furthermore, it is unfair and discouraging to the majority of students who pursue their studies honestly. Scholarly integrity is required of all members of the University. <http://www.sfu.ca/policies/gazette/student/s10-01.html>

Readings and Topic Headings

Readings can be found on Canvas and through external links.

Topics		Description
1	Launching Teams for Success	In this session, you will learn the key factors that contribute to a successful team launch. We will discuss the importance of establishing clear goals and objectives, creating a strong foundation for collaboration and communication, and developing a culture of accountability and continuous improvement.
2	Brave Conversations I	In this series of Brave Conversations, we will discuss a leadership challenge faced by executives and executive teams. Brave conversations are trust-based, collaborative, and honest conversations that address the core concerns of individuals and organizations. These conversations require courage and vulnerability, as they often involve addressing difficult issues or speaking up about different truths. An invited executive will present on a leadership challenge and we will discuss these challenges further.
3	Brave Conversations II	READINGS: Groysberg, B., & Slind, M. (2012). Leadership is a conversation. Harvard business review, 90(6), 76-84. Detert, J., & Bruno, E. (2021). The courage to be candid. MIT Sloan Management Review, 62(4), 66-73.
4	Launching New Teams, Reprised	To facilitate the dissolution of your first teams and the launching of your second teams, we will first review team frameworks to distill lessons from your team experience so far. We will then review effective team building techniques, including goal setting, team roles and responsibilities, team communication, conflict resolution, and sustaining team performance. You will be equipped with knowledge and tools to learn from your completed team experience and to launch your new team. READINGS: Katzenbach, J. R., & Smith, D. K. (2005). The discipline of teams. Harvard Business Review, 83(7).

5	Building your Personal Board of Advisors	How would you build on your EMBA cohort experience to expand your network of executive peers and share knowledge, insights, and strategies with like-minded individuals? How would you continue to develop and meet the challenges of leadership in today's rapidly changing business landscape? In this session, you will learn about the benefits of executive peer forums and how they can help you improve your leadership skills, expand your network, and stay up-to-date on industry trends. You will experience and learn how to create a personal board of advisors for executive peers to share knowledge, insights, and strategies, and to facilitate effective peer-to-peer learning. READINGS: <ol style="list-style-type: none">1.
