Ed.B 472-04 Designs For Learning: Secondary English

Instructor: M. Gibbons

The course will involve seminars, workshops and field activities in the development of Secondary English programs. A variety of teaching approaches will be explored:

- working with large groups, small groups and individuals;
- using such teaching strategies as inquiry, intensive study, discussions, role-playing, simulations, improvisations, and structured experiences;
- combining experiences (theatre, cinema, gallery, wilderness, etc.) with study techniques and expressive activities.

Finally, students will learn procedures for developing programs: diagnosis, objectives, planning, implementation and evaluation.
