Graduate Course Deletion

A course can be deleted if it has not been offered in the previous seven years or if there is no chance of it being offered again. Once a course has been deleted for a minimum of 10 years, the course subject and number can be re-used.

| Course Subject/Number ECON 988                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | Units 0 |       |  |

| Consistent with one of the recommendations of the department's external review, this course deletion is intended to streamline the PhD program requirements and help our students begin active research faster. Complementary updates in the format or deadlines for ECON 987 (Field comprehensive examination), which do not require a calendar change, will be implemented at the department level. |         |       |  |

RECEIVED JUL 5 2018 DEAN OF SCIENCE OFFICE

Cover Memo to FSGC

To: Faculty of Science Graduate Studies Committee From: Tom Claydon, Graduate Program Committee Chair BPK Re: new TRAIN graduate specialization Date: June 27th, 2018

The following new Translational and Integrative (TRAIN) graduate specialization with associated new courses and course deletions have been approved by the Department of Biomedical Physiology and Kinesiology and are forwarded to the Senate Graduate Studies Committee for approval. These curriculum items should be effective for Fall 2019. Please include them on the next SGSC agenda.

Department of Biomedical Physiology and Kinesiology

New calendar entry to create the TRAIN-specialization

-New courses: NEUR 800 (3), NEUR 801-(3), NEUR 802-(0)

Course deletions: BPK 861 (3), BPK 865 (3), BPK 825 (3)

The proposal includes the generation of a new specialization (TRAIN), which is similar in structure to the current existing Interdisciplinary Oncology Graduate Specialization (IOGS). The new specialization will be taught by instructors from multiple departments and faculties at SFU and offers courses to graduate students in different units. It is expected that the specialization will be attractive to students working in multiple areas within the neuroscience field and will provide a rich and stimulating graduate education experience. Interested students will be admitted to a home department and will then register in the specialization, which will be overseen by a steering committee. Listing the specialization in the calendar as a separate entry, outside of departmental entries, allows the description to appear (and be managed) in a single place in the calendar. The attached proposed new calendar entry describing the TRAIN specialization and new courses have been approved by the Department of Biological Sciences and the Department of Physchology, both of whom see enrollment interest from graduate students in their own programs.

Graduate Course Deletion

A course can be deleted if it has not been offered in the previous seven years or if there is no chance of it being offered again. Once a course has been deleted for a minimum of 10 years, the course subject and number can be re-used.

The following calendar changes have been approved by the Faculty of Science and are forwarded to the Senate Graduate Studies Committee for approval. These curriculum items should be effective for Fall 2019. Please include them on the next SGSC agenda.

Department of Physics

The change is to the number of units associated with the PhD thesis course, PHYS 899, from 6 units to gunits. Please see the next page for an explanation regarding the number of units for the MSc thesis course, PHYS 898 vis-à-vis PHYS 899. This change is purely cosmetic and has no implications for the students currently enrolled in the graduate program in Physics.

Dear Michael,

I am writing to inform you of a course change form and program change form that I am submitting to you. The substance of the change is to change the units associated with the Ph.D Thesis course, PHYS 899, from 6 units to 18 units. The rationale for this change is that several years ago the M.Sc Thesis course, PHYS 898, was changed to be an 18 unit course, and given that the Ph.D Thesis requires considerably more work than an M.Sc Thesis, the department of Physics considers it appropriate that the units allocated to the course be larger than that of the M.Sc Thesis. This change is purely cosmetic and has no implications for students currently enrolled in the graduate program in Physics. I would appreciate it if you could bring this matter to the committee of Science Graduate Chairs for approval.

Yours sincerely,

Malcolm Kennett

Associate Professor and Graduate Chair Department of Physics Simon Fraser University
