RE Changes to be made into ActSci Graduate Program

DATE Feb 2, 2021

Department of Statistics & Actuarial Science

Motion 1: A set of changes into the current ACMA graduate program. Please see the enclosed file "Program Change Form ACMA" for a summary.

Rational for Motion 1: To respond to the comments/suggestions at the Department External Review in 2020.

Sincerely,

Joan Hu
Graduate Program Chair
Department of Statistics & Actuarial Science

Calendar Entry Change for Actuarial Science

|---|
| Summary of change: Create two new required actuarial courses ACMA 830 and 832, renumber the third required course ACMA 821 to ACMA 831, delete ACMA 820, and add three statistics courses STAT 831, 832 and 843 to the elective course list. |
| Rationale for change: We modernize the graduate curriculum in actuarial science. The 2020 external review considered the structure of the existing program "extremely outdated" and identified the main failing as "the absence of financial mathematics or quantitative risk management" which are addressed by two new graduate courses ACMA 830 and 832. ACMA 821 is renumbered to ACMA 831 so that, together with the two new courses created, it forms a recognizable sequence of core courses under the MSc program (ACMA 830, 831 and 832). We also add three statistics courses STAT 831, 832 and 843 to the elective course list for more options. |
| Effective term and year: Fall 2021 |
| Will this change impact current students? If yes, what is the plan for current students? Current students who are subject to the existing program requirements and have not yet taken ACMA 820 will be offered other alternatives. |
