Subject: Calendar Changes

Date: September 22, 1980

1) Present Calendar Entry:

FPA 104-3 Music Fundamentals

"This course is designed to provide a basic understanding of the elements of music and to teach the skill of reading music notation. An introduction to music theory and the application of music materials in a wide spectrum of music literature will be accompanied by sight singing exercises. The course is designed for students with no formal music training."

2) Proposed Change:

"This course is designed to provide a basic understanding of the elements of music and to teach the skill of reading music notation. An introduction to music theory and the application of music materials in a wide spectrum of music literature will be accompanied by practical exercises. The course is designed for students with no formal music training."

3) Rationale:

"Sight-singing" has been substituted by "practical" to encompass all forms of music application: rhythm reading, piano study and sight-singing. Some students are misled by "sight-singing" terminology in the calendar. They either feel they would not benefit from the course because of insecurity regarding their vocal abilities, or they register in the course wanting to learn to sight-sing and are hesitant to apply themselves to other practical aspects of the course.
