Sociocultural Approaches to Literary Analysis

Course Objectives

The aim of this course is to provide a framework for students who wish to study French literature within its sociocultural context. The course will place less emphasis on detailed textual analysis, and will enable the students to situate the literary text in its historical, social and cultural background by tracing contemporary developments in history, literature, and the arts. Historical, esthetic and philosophical trends will be analyzed in terms of their impact on or parallelism with a major French literary text, with special emphasis being placed on the novel.

Course Content

- a) Examination of different approaches to the main theme.
- b) Application of these theoretical approaches to a specific period in French literature, for example the Enlightenment.

Evaluation

The evaluation of students' work will be based on in-class oral reports on texts in both general and specific bibliographies, and on a research paper on the specific literary period.

New Course in Spanish

SPAN 834-4 Analysis of Literary Discourse

Justification

- a) The linguistic study of a language cannot be complete without the analysis of literary discourse, which constitutes the highest level of aesthetic and linguistic communication. This type of inquiry has brought forth, over the last decade, the reshaping of literary criticism with the emergence of textual analysis and semiotics. Our course proposals in literature seek to expand the linguistic analysis to all types of discourse
- b) There is considerable student demand for this type of course, as proven by the recent MA programs approved under Special Arrangements.

SPAN 834-4 / Analysis of Literary Discourse

Sample A: Structural studies

This course will introduce some of the major critical theories and their applications to Spanish literary texts.

Different theoretical models will be used in the study of a body of works chosen, according to the research interests of the student.

FACULTY EXPERTISE:

Jorge García Antezana - Professor, Spanish & LAS.

J. García pioneered the computer-aided study of Spanish Literary Texts. He was awarded a grant from the Spanish National Research Council (1967) for the machine-readable transcription of the codices of Libro de Buen Amor; and won a Spanish Royal Academy prize for a Concordance of the same (1970). He also has the following publications in the field:

Machine-readable edition of Crónica de Don Alvaro de Luna Maestre de Santiago y Condestable de Castilla. Dept. of Computing Science, University of Alberta, 1965. (includes old Spanish characters, and markers for automatic reference).

Arcipreste de Hita, Libro de Buen Amor: Glosario de la Edición Crítica, Fuentes de Investigación, SERESA, Barcelona, 1972, 621 pp. (in collaboration with Manuel Criado de Val and Eric W. Naylor)

Libro de Buen Amor: Concordancia Completa de los Códices de Salamanca Toledo y Gayoso, University of Toronto Press, 1981, 1100 pp. (Spanish Royal Academy prize "Fundación Rivedeneira" 1970), computer-aided cumulative, and crossreferenced concordance).

"Un aspecto estilístico de la oración concessiva en la Crónica de don Alvaro de Luna", Boletín de la Real Academia Espanola, XLVII, Madrid, 1967, 499-509. (computer-aided stylistical and authorship study).
