

MEMORANDUM

To.....	H. M. Evans, Registrar and Secretary of Senate	From.....	D. H. Sullivan Dean of Arts
Subject.....	Arts Faculty Curriculum Changes (History, Philosophy)	Date.....	July 17, 1969

As requested by the Senate Agenda Committee, we are submitting additional information on the curriculum changes for History and Philosophy (ref. temporary Senate Paper No.S.246). The attached memos from the Philosophy and History representatives on the Faculty of Arts Curriculum Committee have answered the specific questions a, b, and c in your memo of July 7, 1969. I trust that this information is sufficient and that these curriculum changes may be placed on the next Senate agenda.

SIMON FRASER UNIVERSITY

MEMORANDUM

To: M. Cairns, Admin. Assistant,
Faculty of Arts.
Subject:

From: R.L. Koepke,
History Department.
Date: July 10, 1969.

In reply to your memorandum of 9th July, here is the requested information :

- a) The new and revised courses are proposed for introduction in the Fall Semester, 1969.
- b)
 1. Re 496-499, all faculty are prepared and qualified to supervise independent study in their areas of speciality, as they have so done under the present Honours Programme (there are no qualitative changes between the proposed 496-499 and present 493 and 494.)
 2. Since the proposed 495 is basically an amalgamation of the present 491 and 492, all professors who have taught 491 and 492 in the past are qualified to teach 495, viz. Professors Warren Williams, John Hutchinson, John Baird, Robert Koepke, Don Kirschner, C.R. Day and Martin Kitchen. Moreover, the addition to our staff in the Fall of Professors Jack Bumsted and Michael Fellman, both with a particular interest and experience or qualifications in the area of historiography, will increase the number of qualified and experienced professors on hand.
 3. Re History 100, the Department is of the opinion that any qualified historian should be thereby qualified to teach an "Introduction to the Study of History". In addition, since the subject matter is basically the same as for History 495, except that it is at a more elementary level, the faculty members listed under 495 above have the necessary qualifications and experience for teaching History 100.
- c) The History Department is uncertain as to the meaning of the term "'hidden' expenditures." No special resources (e.g. books, etc.) are required. The question of staffing is covered under section (b) above.

The revised honours programme does not increase the work load to any great extent. The only other possibility which comes to mind is the provision for 2-hour tutorials in History 100, but the costs of these are certainly not "hidden"; these costs have been already met in the projected course offerings for 1969-70 within the presently restricted budget of the History Department.
