MEMORANDUM

To SENATE

From SENATE COMMITTEE ON UNDERGRADUATE STUDIES

Subject Program Change - Criminology

Date 12th December, 1975

MOTION

That the change in the Criminology Program calendar entry, as set forth in S.76-8, be approved and recommended to the Board of Governors for approval.

NOTE - It was noted that the prerequisites for MATH.305-4 would be listed in the Criminology Program entry in order to apprise students fully of the program requirements.

MEMORANDUM

To..... Dr. R.C. Brown, Dean
Faculty of Interdisciplinary
Studies

From..... Ezzat A. Fattah, Chairman
Department of Criminology

Subject..... Courses PSYC 315 and MATH 305

Date..... 12 November 1975

I.S.C. 75-14.

We have been advised by the Psychology Department that they are dropping the course PSYC 315-3 "Survey Design and Sampling in the Social Sciences" from their curriculum, since a similar course is being offered by the Mathematics Department (MATH 305-4 "Statistical Analysis of Sample Surveys").

It is suggested that MATH 305 replace PSYC 315 as one of the upper level courses recommended to Criminology majors in our Calendar entry, (the Psychology course is referred to twice: under Group B of the Upper Levels courses, and under Plan E of the Different Possible Study Plans).

We ask that both the Undergraduate Curriculum Committee of the Faculty of Interdisciplinary Studies and the Senate Committee on Undergraduate Studies approve the above change.
