- co-operative education placement in an intercultural/international setting
- participation in an international field school program

TO Upper Division Requirements

- EDUC 435-4 Infusing Global Perspectives in Curriculum

Intercultural/International Experience

In addition to the requirements listed above, an academic intercultural and/or international experience is also required before students complete this minor. Examples normally include

- SFU co-operative education placement in an intercultural/international setting
- participation in an SFU international field school program
- SFU international student exchange term outside of Canada or the United States
- SFU PDP International Teacher Education Module (ITEM)

Experiences fulfilling the requirements of this minor will need to meet the following criteria:

- successful completion of the program experience as indicated by an official document from the supervising institution
- an experience with high participatory involvement
- an experience completed within five years prior to enrolling in the minor, or five years after completing the course work for the minor

All applicants must receive prior approval by submitting a proposal to the director of Undergraduate Programs indicating the nature of their experience. After the experience has been completed, a written report must be submitted to the director including an analysis of their learning and experience, and a letter of support from a person involved in supervising the experience. The director of undergraduate programs will oversee the submission assessment that will be conducted by the cognate faculty members. A follow-up interview may be required.

Rationale:

1. EDUC 367 has been removed as this course has been removed from the calendar.
2. Addition of EDUC 438 – Education and Popular Culture – explores the global issues that transcend national boundaries - the study of intercultural relationships, and the promotion of educational programs and activities across borders.
3. Addition of EDUC 454 Quantitative Approaches to Environmental Education – a new course added to this minor. It's also a Q option for the B.Ed. students. Environmental Education courses complement EDUC 435 Infusing Global Perspectives into Curriculum by considering a variety of perspectives in the interpretation of environmental education including regulatory, socio-economic, legalistic, aesthetic and scientific frameworks. By promoting the goals of global education, it makes essential addition to the list of electives for the minor. (Note: Students who have completed EDUC 452 cannot take EDUC 454 for further credit and vice-versa.)

4. Deletion of EDUC 471 – This course was originally included as an elective as the instructor, Don Northey, took a global education approach in the curriculum. This instructor is no longer at SFU and the approach is dependent on the instructor. There are still many other electives for the students to choose from.
5. Revisions to Intercultural/International experience – encouraging students to be involved in an SFU experience to ensure a proper risk assessment has been conducted.
